Traci Jeffrey, Norfolk Area Visitors Bureau representative, and Rachel Liester of Red Road Herbs appeared before the board to continue the discussion of establishing a lodging tax in Stanton County. The lodging tax would be used to promote tourism and expand or improve attractions in the county. To impose a county lodging tax, the county governing body must hold a public hearing; adopt a resolution to impose the tax and establish both a Promotion Fund and a Visitors' Committee and establish an Improvement Fund. The tax can be collected at rates up to 4% on the rental of sleeping accommodations at both for-profit and nonprofit hotels, motels, campgrounds, bed & breakfast establishments and similar lodging facilities. After approval the commissioners will need to nominate and appoint members to the visitors committee of 5 to 7 persons to oversee the use of the tax revenues (a five member board needs to have 1, but no more than 2, representatives from a lodging entity) to serve for terms of 4 years. The board thanked Traci and Rachel for the information. No action taken by the board.

Appearing before the board were: Spenser Werth, attorney for Calvin and Jane Sorricks, and Randy and Pam Houghton. Mr. Werth explained the letter and request the board received concerning the access to a ten acre tract of land in accordance with N.R.S. §39-1716. As stated in the affidavit received by the board, the Sorricks have accessed the ten acre property through the Houghton Farms land and recently Houghton Farms has denied access. Randy and Pam Houghton informed the board that until recently the access across their property was by small farm equipment which crossed over a culvert which was not designed for heavy equipment and in 2021 the Sorricks rented the 10 acre tract which was converted to row crops and the use of heavy farm equipment is causing damage to their property. They stated the culvert that has been in place for over sixty years was not designed for heavy equipment and the heavy equipment could compromise the integrity of the culvert. Discussion held on possible low water crossing on the Sorricks property to allow access to their property and the use of N.R.S. §39-1716 to require the board to establish access which would be at the expense of the Sorricks. A case has been filed in the Stanton County District Court concerning the matter and a temporary order was filed allowing temporary access. Matter tabled until July 18, 2022 to allow time to discuss the issue with the county attorney.
